The editors of the PIVOT wish to express sincere thanks to Mabel A. Welles, of the Art Department, for her assistance in the designing and selection of senior rings and pins.

Soon the curtain will ring down—a curtain most conventionally accepted as graduation, and an interesting period in our lives will have reached its completion.

Years have passed . . . four happy, happy years . . . four long, hard, trying years that have witnessed our slow but marvelous development from flippant, immature freshmen to serious and dignified seniors.

It seems so very close, so just behind us . . . when we tremblingly gave our names to the clerk in the office and bore the horribly scrutinizing look of fellow freshmen. We wandered around the lockers and smiled awkwardly because we thought we were expected to. But we were frightened . . . because we were so green and inexperienced and thought that everyone could see it.

Now four years have passed by . . . we are old; we know every little nook in Central . . . it has grown on us and we love it . . . from the dark, green basement to the sunny penthouses. We have grown hoary with worldliness and yet . . . we are still in some manner the same frightened freshmen we were then . . . only this time, afraid of life and of that great swallowing business world into which we are being thrust.

Speaking among ourselves, everyone bravely says we're glad we're getting out . . . but we don't really mean it, because when nobody is around we touch the walls and choke back little tears. And we say, aren't we silly though? But we can't help it! Four years is a long time to spend in one place without feeling a strong pang of lonesomeness at the thought of leaving it. Those four years—so paramount in the molding of our characters and intelligence; four years in which we have experienced the thrill of opening the doors of an unknown world, the steady monotony of dull, lifeless routine, and the grand and glorious satisfaction of accomplishment.

This month, finally, we have reached our goal . . . our ultimathule . . . and we are at last graduating; some more successfully than others perhaps, but we are really leaving. For that we pay most sincere tribute to the faculty—the men and women who have taught us patiently and untiringly, who have attempted to advise us. And we leave a huge bounty of thanks to our principal for his honest guidance and understanding in our difficulties.

Dear alma mater, dear Central, we leave but will ever remember!

MILDRED E. ZAHN.

From Principal to Parent

May 31, 1934.

Dear Parents:

The purpose of life is to achieve worthy goals through rational, normal self-development of both inherited, mental and physical capacities together with acquired attitudes for decent, considerate appreciations of civic and social duties. Too often in this day, people lose sight of the fact that obstacles and difficulties in the way of successful achievement must be surmounted by fair means only.

Fairness in all dealings is the true and lasting key to the best in life. Conscience must be ever keenly alive to discern the straight and narrow path of right doing and make us ready to follow it.

All must be straightforward, noble-minded, above-board and directed to achieving success in life by honorable means. As a corollary to this, we will always find success close at hand when it is based upon right dealing. Family, city, state and country interests will be advanced only by moral methods of conduct, and life will prove more happy and more worth-while if these moral methods rule.

Sincerely yours,

William Wiener
Principal.

SPORTS (A Season's Review)

FOOTBALL

The famous Central choo-choos puffed hard throughout the season coming out the holders of the city championship. Still with such a fine outfit, it seemed impossible to break precedent and beat South Side, who met them with a tied score. However, the team managed to defeat such teams as Nutley, East Side, and Dickinson by terrific scores.

CROSS COUNTRY

The Central cross country team ended their dual season by breaking the proud boast of the Thomas Jefferson's. The hill-and-dalers from Betsytown had not lost a meet for three successive seasons, but this year surrendered the title to the Blue and White. Captain Sol Blaier and Albert Handley were outstanding stars.

BASKETBALL

Central's basketball team, although all set for city championship and possibly state titles, smashed up at the end of the season. Mention goes to Captain Andrew Chisick, Harvey Botnick, Harry Koltman, Maso Ryans, Israel Bloom, Manny Elfenbein, Jack Rubin, and Isidore Dubofsky for their fine work on the court.

BOXING AND WRESTLING

Andy Watts, football trainer, has coached the boys in boxing and wrestling this season. Those prominent among the up-and-coming leather pushers were John Markowitz, Tony Fameghetti, and "Jab" Devone; outstanding bone-crushers were Herbie Stadler, Joe Frieri and Forest Jennings.

GYM TEAM

The gymnastic team has had a fairly successful season. With such members as Harry Osychowski, Vincent Sargero, and John Halkowitch, and with a coach like John Tkacy, they couldn't be stopped.

Such Is Life

The boy was very timid,
The girl was not so shy,
He wanted to say "I love you,"
But all he did was sigh.

He wanted to say "My darling,
Will you become my bride?"
But he couldn't get up courage,
So he just sat and sighed.

They sat a while till she got tired,
And said, "Say something, never fear."
So he arose, and took his hat,
And said, "Very well, good-night, my dear."

He's a Senior

If he wears a squashed-down hat,
If he's joined a high-toned frat,
If he calls a freshman "rat,"
He's a senior.

If he seems to have no brains,
If he's crazy about the janes,
Dons a slicker when it rains,
He's a senior.

If he has a ritzy air,
Walks about with slicked-down hair,
If study time for him is rare,
He's a senior.

Bill

Bill, the elevator operator,
He's there to take you up,
He's there to take you down;
Always when you want him
Bill can be found.
Bill takes you up,
Bill takes you down,
But who'll remember Bill
When graduation comes around?

What Would Happen If—

Ruth Brosnick and Harriet Siegel weren't absent on the same day?
Milton Kaplan wasn't shadowing somebody?
Sylvia Raphael and Sarah Pollack weren't seen together?
Dorothy Meuerle wasn't elaborating on the "art of good literature and good acting"?
Lillian Kestenbaum's thoughts weren't with Irving?
Bill didn't call Sylvia Gross nightly?
Mary Horwitz wasn't pursued by that Dana graduate?
Martha Kurtzman wasn't looking for the "intelligent companion"?
Blanche Zemel cut her titian hair?
Donald Simon wasn't so vain?
Adele Mendes wouldn't look with such endearing eyes at George Christenson?
Bertha Meyer stopped grinning?
Erwin Lurie's thoughts dwelt elsewhere than in political circles?
Marie Rosamilia and Antoinette Negro weren't in the same class?
Lilyan Galuskin didn't have three dates a week?
Gertrude Walz didn't blush?
Rita O'Brien and Muriel Pemberton didn't have a smile for everyone?
Diana Farber stopped arguing with Mr. Schleicher?
Saul Marion wasn't running for an office?
Ann D'Agostine wasn't in the office?
Mildred Zahn wasn't all excited about the next issue?
Al Katz stopped drawing?
Florence Millenger didn't wear new dresses?
Esta Kaplnicoff stopped worrying about history?
Beatrice Sommers stopped looking in the mirror?
Elvira Palumbo stopped quarreling?
Teddy Frucht stopped smiling?
Mary Tanzola didn't have such a fascinating smile?
Adele Hoffenberg's voice changed to soprano?
Fannie Schultzer went to her music class?
Doris Rosen and Marcia Myerson weren't quarreling about opening the locker?
Sylvia Macofsky wasn't laughing?
Mildred Lieber wasn't raving about Dr. Goldstein?
Dorothy Friedman wasn't asking for personals?
The Fervola girls looked alike?
Lillian Nutes wasn't looking for someone to walk down the hill with?
Helen Robke forgot her smile?
Ben Hyams stopped talking?
Minnie Litwack wore a dress to school?
Marcia Myerson and Doris Rosen weren't seen together?
The Three Musketeers (Elvira Palumbo, Helen Robke, Viola Lisante) ever broke up?
Claridge Rice wasn't so clever?

Elizabeth Morse couldn't sing?
Merriam Marx wasn't typing for some teacher?
Arthur Pilch didn't think he had a classic face?
David Levine didn't have an answer for everything?
Sylvia Stifleman wasn't so musical?
All the members of the 4A class got jobs?

A Mood

Above me,
The lacy pattern of sunlight.
Below me,
Promise of the blooms to come.
Within me,
Growing urge of creation,
An indefinable emotion.
A bubbling spring of clear water
Singing, gurgling, o'erflowing,
Free from the fastness of winter.
A trickle; a stream; a brook.
Bursting confining boundaries,
Cycle of pulsating life.

Popular Central Tunes

"Learn to Croon"—and you'll be the teacher's pet.
 "At Your Command"—when a service patrolman tells you to follow the arrows.
 "It's the Talk of the Town"—when a senior changes girl-friends.
 "Looks Like a Beautiful Day"—when you're prepared for class work.
 "Did My Heart Beat"—before I took the test.
 By looking "Over Somebody Else's Shoulder"—you passed the exam.
 "Fit as a Fiddle"—after a good report card.
 "Sweethearts Forever"—when the teacher passed me.
 "Let's Make Up"—our back homework.
 But "If I Didn't Care"—would I do my back homework?
 "Trouble in Paradise"—when you cut that third period last week.
 "Say It Isn't So"—that I failed the course.
 "I'll Be Faithful"—always to my Alma Mater.
 To teachers: "Try a Little Tenderness"—when making out exams, and "You Keep Me In Hot Water All the Time" by piling on reference work.
 "Please"—lend me an eraser.
 "It Isn't Fair"—when you get a surprise test.
 "How Can I Go On Without You"—little notes, during a test.
 "I've Got My Fingers Crossed"—and hoping the teacher won't call on me.
 "The Day You Came Along"—that good old vacation.
 "The Last Round-Up"—examination week.
 "The End Has Come"—graduation night.

Why Do I Read Poetry?

Why do I read poetry?
 What is it in me
 That compels me to look
 Into a poetry book?
 Is it the music of a cadenced line
 As I read aloud to a friend of mine?
 Is it the beautiful description
 That stirs so my imagination?
 Or is it the brave and manly heroes
 In the ballads of gay caballeros?
 Or perhaps it is for the philosophic
 That I read—or the ironic?
 No. It is because in all this poetry
 I find you—and I find me.

Adieu

Four years ago we entered here
 With a deal of fuss and ballyhoo;
 Four years ago—'twas the fall of the year;
 Now we smile and say—Adieu.
 We were proud of you then, we are prouder now,
 For we have had a part in the building of you,
 The great pleasure it gave us only we know;
 Now we smile and say—Adieu.
 You taught us to see life a bit more clearly,
 'Twould be sweet to have those lessons continue;
 You taught us to value our ideals dearly;
 Now we smile and say—Adieu.
 Feelings of tenderness over us fall
 When we think of our deeds and the people we knew;
 We'll be back some day to see you all;
 But now we smile and say—Adieu.

Class Will

We, the Class of June 1934, after having had thoroughly impressed upon us the folly of passing intestate, and being of sound mind (if any) and understanding (a few things—very few), do hereby make, publish, and declare this to be our last will and testament.

ARTICLE I—To all aspiring young grammar school graduates who wish the best of everything, we leave Central High School. Teachers, facilities, companions—the best.

ARTICLE II—To the schoolmates we leave behind us we do bequeath the help and understanding of our able principal, Mr. William Wiener.

ARTICLE III—To the freshmen we leave our lockers and the blankety-blank locks that go with them. May you have better luck than we did when trying to get them open one minute before the last bell.

ARTICLE IV—To the sophomores we do devise our typewriters. May your desire to master the "touch" system overcome your temptation to use the "hunt" system.

ARTICLE V—To the juniors we do bequeath that perennial cry: "Next year we'll be seniors!" Poor children! Disillusionment awaits you—for seniors soon become freshmen. (In life or college, doubters.)

ARTICLE VI—To the Class of February 1935, we leave Miss Martin's office. Many a head of hair has turned gray, while awaiting an O. K. therein.

ARTICLE VII—To the knowledge (or point) seekers we leave our library and with it Miss Ward and Miss Caprio—they know all the answers, or if they don't, they know where to find them.

ARTICLE VIII—To the freshmen we leave that typical bewilderment which we discarded for the suave wisdom of upper-classmen.

ARTICLE IX—To the seniors, as well as the rest of the school, we leave those impenetrable, heartless, yet vigilant patrolmen. How we adored walking from the library all around the first floor to get to the office! ("I'm a senior" never seemed to awe these minions of the law.)

ARTICLE X—To all potential orators we leave Dr. Goldstein. If he doesn't teach them to make themselves heard in the last row of the balcony, no one ever will!

ARTICLE XI—To the faculty we bequeath the students we leave behind us. They are yours to teach and mold. If they gain as much as we did, they will be more than amply repaid for any effort they may exert.

ARTICLE XII—To the cutters we do devise the seat around the flag-pole. It's a nice place during the summer months—but heaven help those who are caught warming it at the wrong time.

ARTICLE XIII—To the sophomores we leave the freshmen. Now it's your turn!

ARTICLE XIV—To the senior A's we leave the PIVOT. Are you good enough to make a better one? It's a hard job, we say. You can try, of course. But it's rather difficult, you'll admit, to improve the best.

ARTICLE XV—To the school we leave our pictures in the hall. You'll find real beauty there! Go and see us some time!

ARTICLE XVI—To the faculty we leave a number of four A's who, at the last moment (examination time, to be exact), decided that they really cared too much for you and the school to leave after only four years. We leave you the pleasure (?) of their continued presence in your classes.

WE hereby appoint Mr. William Wiener to be the sole executor of this our last will (we have a strong one) and testament. With suspiciously moist eyes but squared shoulders we set in witness thereof, our last seal, this twenty-fifth day of June, in the year of our Lord, Nineteen hundred and thirty-four.

Signed:

CLASS OF JUNE NINETEEN HUNDRED AND THIRTY-FOUR.

Sealed in the presence of:

MAE SELZNICK,
Attorney-at-Law.
